Elephant Invades Corral Club Barn; O'Daniel Worried

By BOB CAMPBELL
Daily Sun Staff

Big Pete O'Daniel has lived long enough, and seen enough things, and heard so much here and there, that he finds it difficult to believe anything.

He wouldn't even believe it when he looked in his barn at the Corral Club Monday morning, cold and early, and saw an elephant waving good morning to him.

"Funny," he mused, walking around a pile of hay, "looks like an elephant there."

And then Pete O'Daniel, who is an elephant among men, felt terribly small standing beside something that couldn't be a horse because a horse has a tail wagging from behind.

"Who done it?" he screamed.

"Who done this terrible thing to me?"

For standing right there in the entrance of this usually quiet and nice-smelling horse boarding house, was not only a thing that looked like an elephant; it was an elephant.

O'Daniel, a man whose very appearance is one of self-possession and assurance—a man who might lose everything and yet remain unruffled—couldn't cope with an elephant at 6:30 in the morning, or any other time.

"It's a she-elephant," he offered.

He gave the appearance of a man defeated.

"Standing right in the door, smelling up my friends' horses," he added.

The big weaving animal, cold and hurting because of it, kept rocking as only elephants can rock, sideways with big feet keeping cadence. She would unroll her trunk and reel it back in, and with her little eyes look at the big, baffled man who stood just out of mauling distance. Sometime Sunday somebody gave the elephant to O'Daniel. Or left it there for bed and board.

Outside, close to the door, was a big red trailer. Around the axle a chain had been looped, and the other end attached to the elephant's leg. It looked like a mighty small chain for such a big elephant.

When O'Daniel came to the auction barn Monday he found the following results of his new guest's uninvited visit:

1. All of the eating hay belonging to some small horses had disappeared.
2. A gate that separated a mare from the elephant, had been torn away.

"Incredible," The General Says—

Marines Were Not Active In Capture Of Philippines, MacArthur Declares

TOKYO, Jan. 17.—(AP)—"Incredible—that's what Gen. Douglas MacArthur says about the assertion by Gen. Holland M. (Howlin' Mad) Smith that MacArthur failed to publicize the Marines' contribution to the Pacific campaign.

Smith's war memoirs, coming out today in a book, "Coral and Brass," have appeared partially before in magazine form. However, in the full text the Leatherneck general—now retired—raises new issues.

Smith wrote that James Roosevelt, son of the late President, was decorated for his part in the operations at Makin Island "without any reference to me." Smith led the landing forces in the invasions of Tarawa, Makin, Saipan and Iwo Jima.

General MacArthur replied at his Allied headquarters office in Tokyo: "General Smith's statements that Marines were active in the recapture of the Philippines and that I neglected to mention them in my communications seem incredible," said MacArthur in a statement to The Associated Press.

There were no Marine ground units whatsoever engaged in the recapture of the Philippines. The only ground forces involved were the Sixth and Eighth armies, neither of which possessed Marine units."

MacArthur went on to say that the only Marine ground unit under his command was the First Marine division temporarily assigned to him in Australia after the Guadalcanal campaign and which he used in the New Britain operation.

"It was shortly thereafter relieved from my command over my protest," said MacArthur. "It was a magnificent unit as indeed were all other Marine units with which I have had any professional contact, and my reports as to its conduct during its service under me were completely laudatory and fully publicized."

He added that General Smith "has been badly misinformed, to say the least."

Smith wrote that although the Marines were active in the recapture of the Philippines "you can search MacArthur's communications describing the Philippines fighting and you will be unable to find a single reference to the Marines."

Cold Wave Moves Over All Texas; Warmer Tuesday

By The Associated Press.

Winter's latest assault on Texas today chilled the state from the Panhandle to the Rio Grande Valley.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 14 degrees at Amarillo and Guadalupe Pass to 46 at Brownsville.

Snow was falling at El Paso.

HUNDREDS STRANDED—The fury of a widespread storm left hundreds of persons stranded yesterday in the Rocky Mountain region and sent Southern California into its third week of freezing temperatures, The Associated Press reported.

A Southern Pacific Railroad train was sent out of Lodi, N. M., last night to rescue motorists stalled in an estimated 800 cars west of there and eight tourist courts had become jammed and many private homes were taking in some of the 600 or 600 extra families already there. Snowfalls had closed U. S. Highway 86 and other roads further south.

Guadalupe Pass, Abilene, Big Spring, Marfa and Lubbock, in central Texas and along the coast light rains were reported.

The cold wave which swept into the Panhandle late Saturday reached the coast and Lower Valley early today.

Curtailment of industrial usage of gas because of cold weather in a North Central Texas area was ordered by officials of Lone Star Gas company.

The order specified a 50 per cent curtailment and was issued about mid-morning. Length of the curtailment depends entirely on the weather, a company spokesman said.

The weather bureau forecast continued cold for tonight. Temperatures will range from 10 to 14 degrees in the Panhandle; 15 to 20 in the South Plains and 21 to 28 elsewhere in West Texas except in the Del Rio-Eagle Pass area where it will range from 28 to 30 degrees.

For East Texas the forecast was for 20 degree weather in the upper Red River Valley, 23 to 27 in the north portion and 28 to 34 in the interior and south portion.

It was expected to warm up a bit over the state Tuesday.

Congress To Act On Extension Of U.S. Rent Curbs

Export Controls Also Planned, Barkley Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Congress today voted President Truman a raise in pay.

Only Mr. Truman's signature is necessary to boost his salary from $75,000 to $100,000 a year and raise his tax-free annual expense allowance from $40,000 to $90,000.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Vice President-Elect Barkley said today that congress will act soon to extend rent and export controls.

Democrat leaders from the senate and the house conferred with President Truman. Barkley said they had a general discussion of the legislative program but reached no decision as to what will be taken up first.

Two-Year Extension—But he said rent and export controls will be among the early ones. The present rent control law expires March 31. The administration is asking for a two-year extension of the law in tightened form.

For more immediate action, congressional leaders have ticketed first a pay raise for the President and a second, approval of Dean Acheson to be the new secretary of state.

Completing the organization of congress comes ahead of that. To do that, house democrats called a meeting to OK their committee assignments and a shake-up that

Permanent Force To Keep Germans Unarmed Planned

BERLIN, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Creation of a permanent security police force to see that Germany remains disarmed today was called a duty by United States, Great Britain and France.

The tri-power force, called a military security board, is designed to take over the demilitarization functions of the cooperative allied control council, which the Russians wrecked by withdrawal.

It consists of inspectors and enforcement boards which will see to it that Germany does not rearm in the military, industrial or scientific fields.

The board's creation was ordered by the six nation London conference and its details worked out by the three military governors.

The six nations are: the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The announcement said the security board will report to the military governors in the three western zones. There will be subcommittees and three special divisions—military, industrial and scientific. Inspectors will be attached to each division for field work.

Aly Khan And Rita Hayworth Plan Marriage

CANNES, France, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Rita Hayworth and Aly Khan announced today they will be married as soon as he is divorced from his present wife.

The Aly Khan received newspaper attacks at his Chateau near here Friday night. That was when they were in the midst of their honeymoon.

He said "I am going to marry Miss Hayworth as soon as I am free to do so."

Miss Hayworth declared she is "in full agreement" with the statement made by the son of a fabulously wealthy Aga Khan.

Miss Hayworth has recovered from an attack of grippe in the seclusion of Aly's snow white villa here, his secretary, Mario Magliano, reported.

The couple have not left the Hollywood-Spanish style villa since Friday night. That was when they went to call at Yakimour, the Aly Khan's hilltop chateau at Le Cannet, four miles away.

Friends of the couple were silent in what passed between Aly and his 78-year-old father.

The whole show? Members of the Russian Communist party hold key jobs in the government. And the key Communists are in the Politburo.

In thinking of Russia, keep a couple of things separate: The party and the government; the mass of the people and the members of the party.

Only about 8,000,000—of the 200,000,000 people in Russia—are permitted at this time to be members of the Communist party there.

(About 18,000,000 young people of both sexes, 15 to 26, are members of the Komsomol: The Communist Youth League. Although schooled in Communism, they are not party members.)

About once a year all the party members elect delegates to a party convention, called the All-Union Congress.

The Congress elects 71 party members to a central committee, which, with the help of other committees, handles party details in Russia.

On top of all this—the Congress and the committees—sits the Politburo: Stalin and the 13 other top

12 Top Communists On Trial

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Trial of a dozen high Communist leaders opened today amid defense counsel charges that a large police detail assigned to the trial was "a deliberate, purposeful effort to poison the minds of the prospective jurors."

The accusation came after one of the largest court guards in New York police history was stationed in and about the federal courtroom to maintain order.

At the outset, Federal Judge Harold R. Medina overruled a defense motion that city police be removed from the courthouse and its vicinity.

After arguing that the 400-man police detail was an attempt by the prosecution to intimidate the jury panel, George W. Crockett, Jr., negro defense attorney from San Francisco, said a "rough count" disclosed there were more police than spectators in the square outside the courthouse.

As he spoke, an estimated 300 men and women began parading outside the federal building. They carried no placards as they paced slowly to and fro. Police made no attempt to interfere with them.

Only 11 of the 12 defendants were present as the off-delayed trial started.

William Z. Foster, national chairman of the Communist party, whose attorneys previously had indicated he would not be present because of illness.

Judge Medina also denied a motion by Harry M. Sacher, another defense attorney, seeking another 90-day postponement.

After a roll call of the defendants, U. S. Attorney J. X. McGohery moved to proceed with the conspiracy indictment against the 11 defendants present.

When Foster's name was called, Louis F. McCabe, defense counsel, told the court the party chairman was not present because of the condition of his health.

Judge Medina did not rule immediately on McGohery's motion to proceed.

More than 400 police and federal agents have been assigned to prevent disorderly demonstrations and to handle the pickets expected to protest the trial.

The trial was postponed last November because Foster, 67, was suffering a heart ailment.

The indictment—two counts—charges the national board of the Communist party—face a possible maximum penalty of ten years in prison and $10,000 fine if convicted.

They were indicted by a federal grand jury last July 20 during a lengthy investigation of alleged subversive activities and Communist espionage. They are free in $5,000 bail each.

President Seeks Reorganization Of Government

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—President Truman today asked Congress to give him permanent authority to reorganize the government.

In a message to the legislators, he said he needs the power to shift government agencies in order to promote "efficient and economical conduct of the public's business."

The President emphasized: 1. The reorganization legislation should be permanent rather than temporary.

2. The act should be "comprehensive in scope; no agency or function of the executive branch should be exempted from its operation."

The Hoover commission recently recommended that the President have authority to reorganize the government, subject to congressional ratification.

The commission, headed by former President Hoover, is studying ways to improve operations of the government.

Under the President's recommendation, reorganization plans submitted to Congress would become effective in 60 days unless rejected by both Senate and House.

More Women Now Seeking Jobs In Corsicana Area

The high cost of keeping skin and bones a successful merger is causing more and more Corsicana women to seek work, according to W. E. Reedy, head of the local unit of Texas Employment Service.

Reedy made a check and analysis of the active files of job seekers Monday and noted the fact that more and more women are hunting jobs to supplement the family income.

Some of these housewives are newcomers to the office. They either haven't worked before, or they haven't worked in a long, long time.

Prices of food and clothing and the other necessities of life, such as beauty shop bills and whatnot, have forced the housewife from the stepnanny to the stenographer's chair, if she can find a vacant one.

Reedy says the registration for jobs in this particular field is being handled at an increased rate.

The employment director also noted that many more out-of-school youths, and even those in the 16 to 17 year group, are seeking employment than ever before including the war era when jobs were available for almost every age group.

There is still another important contributing factor to the increased number of job applicants, Reedy points out, are lowering their age specifications. Many will not consider a person more than 35 years of age while

Mother Jailed After Clawing Eyes Of Child

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Jimmy Karniski, aged three, sees only affected today through eyes clawed by his mother.

His mother now is in a white hospital bed in a ward where nurses laughingly order "hug my neck."

Four days have made a big difference in the life of the chubby, tow-headed boy.

Dallas county Sheriff Bill Decker found the boy Thursday, clinging on the rumpled bed of his one-room playhouse home in West Dallas and drinking milk from a nipple-equipped soda pop bottle.

"I'll never forget it, Decker says. 'Blood was running from his eyes.'

An ambulance took Jimmy to the hospital. His 29-year-old mother was taken to jail. She has been charged with lunacy.

Jimmy's eight-year-old brother has been placed in a foster home by juvenile authorities.

Taft Says Budget Can Be Cut By $3,000,000,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today that President Truman's $41,900,000,000 budget can be cut by at least $3,000,000,000 "if the Hoover reorganization plan is adopted."

Taft told a reporter he is convinced the proposed spending program for the fiscal year beginning July 1 can be slashed until there will be no need for new taxes.

Former President Herbert Hoover has been directing a study of government reorganization to increase economy and efficiency in the administrative branch.

Taft's position indicated that he will throw his influence as GOP committee chairman behind efforts to have the Hoover recommendations adopted.

He said at least $1,000,000,000 can be cut from proposed military costs without weakening the defense program. He said the Universal Military Training program is "not necessary." He also said he sees no need at this time for a $300,000,000 spending program on new military posts.

Taft predicted the government will have a surplus next July 1 of about $2,500,000,000 rather than a deficit of $800,000,000 which Mr. Truman predicted.

City Official Fined: Overtime Parking Charge

The city hall parking meters netted an official victim Monday.

Julius C. Jacobs, city attorney, was fined $1 by City Recorder Clay Nash for overtime parking in front of the municipal building.

Jacobs was given a ticket for overparking at the new meter area Saturday afternoon.

150,000 Chinese Begin "Hopeless" War For Nanking

NANKING, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The Chinese government today massed about 150,000 troops on a 300-mile front in a neutral military observation zone as a hopeless effort to defend Nanking.

Communists armies with a total strength of more than 300,000 troops already are poised north of the Hwai river, 105 miles to the northwest, for a descent to the Yangtze river valley.

Meanwhile, it was learned authoritatively that the Chinese Navy Sunday night evacuated the government garrison from Tangku, a port for the North China commercial center of Tientsin.

Reds Tlank Tientsin—Tientsin, 27 miles west of Tangku, fell to the Reds Saturday.

Earlier, nationalist evacuation of Pengpu was officially announced. The government's final abandonment of Pengpu and evacuation of towns on Pengpu's flanks have yielded to the Reds necessary river crossing areas. Pengpu, anchor of the erstwhile Hwai river defense line, has been outflanked by the Reds for a month.

Capital Gets Dressed Up—

America's 41st Inaugural Ceremony May Be The Most Festive In History

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—This 150-year-old federal city just about finished dressing up today for the nation's 41st inaugural ceremony—one that may go down in history as the most festive of all.

Out of town visitors who began streaming in for an entire week of celebrating saw a mass of white enveloping the stand and seats built in front of the great dome of Capitol where Harry S. Truman and Alben W. Barkley will take the oath as President and vice President Thursday at noon (EST.).

They saw the circus seats of a rare sober hue stretched out along well-trod Pennsylvania Avenue awaiting some of the 750,000 or 1,000,000 persons expected to see all or part of the formal anointing of the "Fair Deal."

Big Parade Planned—Lamp posts clutch American flags and blue-gold presidential seals on shields of wood. Another great white pine-boarded stand has been constructed in front of the White House where the President will watch a two and a half hour parade of troops, cadets, bands, and state floats in which 40,000 persons will take part.

The "Avenue of Patriots," 41st part of the Pennsylvania Avenue passing the White House, already is flying the flags of 48 United Nations. They decorate the stands in front of the White House. Shields bearing the names of patriots from these countries already are in place.

Besides seven main events Wednesday and Thursday, inaugural week will feature dozens of receptions, dances and teas by societies representing most of the 48 states and by individuals hith in the so-

The Boss Of Russia—

Marlow Explains Politburo Of U.S.S.R.

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The Politburo. You hear it mentioned often. But what is it? It's the real boss of Russia.

It's made up of Joseph Stalin and 13 other top Russian Communists. Its full name is the Political Bureau. The Politburo makes the big decisions.

Yet the Politburo is not even part of the Russian government. And only a very small percentage of the Russian people are members of the Russian Communist party.

How, then, can the Politburo run

the whole show? Members of the Russian Communist party hold key jobs in the government. And the key Communists are in the Politburo.

In thinking of Russia, keep a couple of things separate: The party and the government; the mass of the people and the members of the party.

Only about 8,000,000—of the 200,000,000 people in Russia—are permitted at this time to be members of the Communist party there.

What follows will show how the Politburo also runs the government.

The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (U.S.S.R.) is made up of 16 republics. (Soviet means council.)

Like our own Congress, which makes our laws, the U.S.S.R. has a Parliament, or Congress, called the Supreme Soviet, which makes laws for Russia.

IDEAS AND CONDITIONS

One of the things about the State of the Union message of the President that stands out in general retrospect is that it did not represent any essentially new approach to the problems of the day. His anti-inflation program was about the same as the one he proposed to the special session late in 1947; labor law recommendations were like those made two years ago; ideas for new government enterprises were brought forward in his speeches of last summer and fall.

But many political and most business leaders say that conditions have changed in the last few months. They declare that the country's chief economic problem is no longer inflation but the possibility of deflation, that the dominant condition of business is no longer rising boom but potential recession. If they are right the conditions which guide labor dealings and government activity may change radically.

The possibility must be recognized that the President may be right in his evident view that the essential situation has not changed, and that other observers may be wrong. The country will just have to wait and see. Meanwhile about the only indication of the possible direction of the President's thinking in the business cycle is in the desire to reduce rather than add to the national debt at this time. That could turn out to be the most significant item of his message.

OUTLOOK FOR EUROPE

The Organization for European Co-operation has prepared its master economic plan for Europe for the balance of the scheduled life of the Marshall Plan. It presents Europe as having the expectation of being $800,000,000 in the hole as to exports and imports, in the year following the end of the aid program.

The conclusion for the people of Europe is that for the next few years they can expect to continue to live on short rations, be frugally clothed and housed, and carry on the seemingly endless effort to keep their countries from bankruptcy. The economists cannot yet foresee a time when Europeans can relax and enjoy the fruits of a good year. This is a dreary outlook.

On the other hand there is no more certainty of accuracy in this forecast than there might be in a rosy one. It is based on presumptions of certain world market conditions in 1952 and 1953, and certain relations at that time between the prices of goods and commodities in Europe and in the Americas and Asia. These presumptions may be generally right, or they may be so far wrong that four years from now they will seem silly.

The outlook for Europe is like that of an individual who sees hard sledding ahead as he considers his probable finances of years to come. No one really knows what will happen. The only thing to do is to work hard, live frugally if need be, and be prepared to take full advantage of the breaks of the game as they occur.

THE PRISONERS

Pity the prisoner of war, in most cases he did not want to fight it, yet he is among those who suffered most from it. The Allied prisoners have been released long ago, yet large numbers of Germans still remain imprisoned. In March, 1947, Russian Foreign Minister Molotov admitted that his country still held 890,000 German prisoners, all of whom he

DUST GATHERERS

I have kept them so long that the women folk say
In the attic they now should be hidden away,
For the women who daily pick up after me
Won't let me leave things where
I want them to be.

"It is long after Christmas!" the women declare,
"And you still have that basket of cards by your chair.
They just double the dusting each morning we do.
It is hard to keep house for a fellow like you."

"Let them stay where they are!"
to the women I'll say,
"When it suits me I'll tell you to pick them up."
These are greetings from friends and they're precious to me,
But the dust that they gather is all you can see."

promised would be returned by Dec. 31, 1948. Half of them have been, but by the Allies' figures, 443,000 still remain unaccounted for. The three Western powers, Great Britain, France and the United States, have now asked the Russians why this promise has not been fulfilled.

It may have been in anticipation of this note that Gen. G. S. Lukachenko, the Soviet chief of staff in Germany, has made the charge in an interview that the Western powers still have many German prisoners. He attributed 450,000 to the French, and accuses the United States of using Germans to install military bases on Pacific islands.

Many Germans undoubtedly died toward the end of the war without having their fate recorded. Uncounted others perished in the grim surroundings of the Russian concentration camps. But some of the 443,000 must be still alive, and ordinary humanity dictates their release.

Of course the Soviets might say that since they have no individual consideration for their own people, why should they treat the Germans any better?

LITERARY FATE

He wrote epic poems in which he took great pride, yet is remembered not for them, but for "The Story of the Three Bears." While his life of Nelson, the great British admiral, is still read, more people are familiar with his bit of light verse, "How the Water Comes Down at Lodore."

That is the whimsical fate of Robert Southey, once poet laureate of England, as recalled in a new biography by Jack Simmons. It is not such an unusual fate, either. The mathematical works of Chas. Lutwidge Dodson, learned as they are, have never brought him one hundredth of the fame that he attained by writing "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland."

The great French jurist, Edouard de Laboulaye, is remembered chiefly for his "Fairy Tales," and for his Arabian fantasy, "Abdullah; or, The Four-Leaved Clover."

A conclusion may perhaps be drawn from these instances: Write well for children and adults will appreciate you.

PALESTINE NEGOTIATION

New hope for a working out of the Palestine problem is found in the agreement of Egypt and Israel to negotiate directly to try to settle the causes of their fighting. It was thought some while ago that Israel and Trans-Jordan were on the brink of direct talks, but apparently those have not yet developed.

In many respects the situation in Palestine continues to be discouraging. The fact that a solution has seemed near so many times lends a note of unreality to new hopes. If an agreement for full peace should be achieved, observers in the rest of the world would be likely to regard it as a bubble, which might burst at any moment.

Meanwhile the United Nations and the major powers individually, while still maintaining an official interest in the matter, seem to have resigned themselves to watching and waiting. Inasmuch as they seem unable to take decisive action, this may be the course which will be most helpful to the settlement of the situation.

And if the way to peace in Palestine seems long to us in this country, how much longer it must seem to those who live amid the gunfire!

MRS. SHARBOROUGH, TEACHERS HOLD FORUM, PANEL PROGRAM ON EDUCATION FOR DEMOCRACY

Mrs. Virginia W. Sharborough, parent education specialist, division of extension, Texas University, topped a three-day schedule of appearances Thursday in Corsicana with assistance in a panel discussion in the evening at Kinloch House.

Mrs. Sharborough, introduced by Miss Muri Craddock, president of the Navarro County unit of the Texas Teachers association, spoke at the beginning and conclusion of the panel program and guided an open forum in which the audience participated freely.

The program, part of a three-day study course planned by the Sam Houston, Robert E. Lee, William B. Travis Junior and Senior PTAs, had as its subject "Living Democracy to Our Children."

Members of the panel were Mrs. G. E. Ramsey Sr., Mrs. Ruth J. Elvington, Miss Margaret Berry and Miss Craddock.

A study of means of teaching democracy through the home, school, church and community, Tommy Dixon, Music and Education director of First Baptist church, sang a group of appropriate songs, and Billy Dan Clarke was presented in a piano solo.

In opening the discussion Mrs. Sharborough asked the members of the audience to consider "What is a wonderful thing it is to live democratically?" and "What is there we can do to further the democratic way of thinking?"

Yelvington discussed home aspects of democracy, pointing out that in the family each member has a separate sphere of responsibility; that even small children should have some responsibility around the home, and that decisions should have some definite schedule of responsibilities.

She said that living in families is one of the oldest relationships known to man, and that the success of the family is the way members treat one another. Recommending the family council as a democratic experience, Mrs. Yelvington suggested that it need not be formal in nature but should take the form of informal discussion.

Mrs. Yelvington told her listeners that a family is more than a group of people living together, but that it is a group of varying personalities each of whom exert a great influence on another.

Mrs. Ramsey in introducing the subject of democratic principles in the church said both terms, democracy and church, needed definition.

She suggested that democracy be considered according to Lincoln's teaching, "that for the true people," and that the church be defined as the Twentieth Century church in the United States.

She said that the church of today is teaching democracy through its organization and government; that there is increased recognition of laymen as an extension of increasing recognition of work of youth in the church, and that the church is offering a new program of work through forums and study groups.

Mrs. Ramsey said that the limitations of the church should be recognized. These limitations were listed as racial differences, prejudice, and the lack of light verse.

That is the whimsical fate of Robert Southey, once poet laureate of England, as recalled in a new biography by Jack Simmons. It is not such an unusual fate, either. The mathematical works of Chas. Lutwidge Dodson, learned as they are, have never brought him one hundredth of the fame that he attained by writing "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland."

The great French jurist, Edouard de Laboulaye, is remembered chiefly for his "Fairy Tales," and for his Arabian fantasy, "Abdullah; or, The Four-Leaved Clover."

A conclusion may perhaps be drawn from these instances: Write well for children and adults will appreciate you.

New hope for a working out of the Palestine problem is found in the agreement of Egypt and Israel to negotiate directly to try to settle the causes of their fighting. It was thought some while ago that Israel and Trans-Jordan were on the brink of direct talks, but apparently those have not yet developed.

In many respects the situation in Palestine continues to be discouraging. The fact that a solution has seemed near so many times lends a note of unreality to new hopes. If an agreement for full peace should be achieved, observers in the rest of the world would be likely to regard it as a bubble, which might burst at any moment.

Meanwhile the United Nations and the major powers individually, while still maintaining an official interest in the matter, seem to have resigned themselves to watching and waiting. Inasmuch as they seem unable to take decisive action, this may be the course which will be most helpful to the settlement of the situation.

And if the way to peace in Palestine seems long to us in this country, how much longer it must seem to those who live amid the gunfire!

And if the way to peace in Palestine seems long to us in this country, how much longer it must seem to those who live amid the gunfire!

Elephant Invades Corral Club Barn

3 What once had been a big block of salt was now just a little old nubbins of a block of salt.

4 The water cooler was missing.

The mare belongs to E. W. Hays, and she wasn't happy. She was pressing herself into as small a slab of a horse as possible against the far wall. She probably didn't mind the stolen hay. She didn't look as if she had an appetite.

"Skeeter," a horse belonging to Lum Wooley, also was nearby. Neither "Skeeter" nor Wooley seemed to care for this homesteading elephant.

Other horses in the barn were nervous. Men who know horses but not elephants, explained it. They said horses are afraid of wild things, and will things exude a smell, and horses get a whiff, and they become very nervous and excited. The elephant, they pointed out, is a wild thing, basically, and still smells even if he is tamed.

O'Daniel, of course, was stuck with the elephant. There seemed to be little doubt in his mind as to that.

So he accepted that and concentrated on two other things: Who did it, and how did the elephant swallow the water cooler?

"Somebody did this to me," he announced.

"Somebody who has an elephant did it," he continued.

Which isn't bad reasoning, when one is under a strain. A bystander, but not a close bystander, suggested to O'Daniel that the elephant was cold.

O'Daniel, normally a patient, laughing man, looked at him with a stony eye.

"So am I cold," he said, and let it go at that.

The elephant caught O'Daniel getting closer and unrolled the trunk again, in the plea of a beggar.

"Get it back in," shouted O'Daniel. "You've already eaten my water cooler."

Then he stalked into the office.

JOHN MOORE DIES AT CLIFTON HOME; RITES HELD HERE

John Moore, aged 88 years, died Sunday at his Clifton ranch.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the McCammon Funeral chapel. Burial was in Oakwood cemetery.

Moore formerly resided on the Moore ranch east of Corsicana, but had made his home in Clifton for many years.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. A. C. Mosley, Corsicana; three nieces, Mrs. J. E. Metcalf, Sr., Corsicana; Mrs. H. Savage, Denison, and Mrs. H. M. Ragdale, New Gulf, and other relatives.

Funeral services were held at the home of Mrs. E. J. Metcalf, Sr., 1010 S. Main St., Clifton, Jan. 17, at 2 o'clock. Burial was in Oakwood cemetery.

A native of Mississippi, he came to Navarro county at the age of 10 years and moved to Clifton 35 years ago.

WOMEN

Others put the top limit at 45. The man 50 and above might as well learn to play a good hand of dominoes.

These limitations, whether right or wrong, contribute to a precarious situation in the labor market. Reedy said. "The high cost of living can't be overlooked when we are reminded of the fact that certain costs continue on when a person is employed or unemployed."

"An unemployed person is expected to pay the same rents, the same price for food and board, the same for clothing and clothes as the employed individual who is fortunate enough to get home with a sizeable pay check each week."

The women who have entered the labor market have come a-rapin' at the door at a poor time. Right now this city's and country's employment trend continues its downward trek, with what Mr. Winter predicts it right and left, according to Reedy.

It has been comparatively mild here, but that isn't the point. It hasn't been elsewhere, and those residents of this country who have been working in other localities are heading for home because of shutdowns and layoffs and unpleasant working conditions.

Using the figures as a yardstick, unemployment here has reached its highest level since February, 1948, despite the fact that total employment remains at a high mark for this season of the year.

Members of China's legislative Yuan and the national assembly in Nanking have again appealed for swift government efforts to obtain an "honorable peace."

The Kuomintang (government party) central political council reached no decision at its meeting this morning, but most members recommended an effort to get a ceasefire agreement entered into active negotiations.

Well informed military quarters reported no major movement of Communist columns across the Hwai river. Small Red forces that infiltrated previously across the river are now advancing into the area vacated by the nationalist sixth army group as this group completes its 70-mile withdrawal from the Hwai to new positions 30 miles north of Nanking.

The main body of Communist troops in central China is reported deploying for a general offensive to the north bank of the Yangtze.

Coke Insists He Contesting Right To Seat Johnson

AUSTIN, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Former Governor Coke Stevenson insists he has contested Lyndon B. Johnson's right to sit in the U. S. Senate.

He challenged a recent statement attributed to Sen. Francis J. Myers, chairman of the senate subcommittee on elections, to the effect that no contest has been filed with the senate.

In a telegram yesterday to Myers, Stevenson said the senate committee had before it court records which he said showed "fraudulent votes in favor of Johnson sufficient to more than account for his majority."

"If anything else is needed to invoke your jurisdiction x x please advise what it is," Stevenson said. Stevenson was referring to records growing out of his U. S. district court effort to block certification of Johnson's name as the Democratic nominee for Senator last fall. The U. S. supreme court held that the district court had no jurisdiction.

In the general election, Stevenson supported Jack Porter, the Republican nominee. Johnson won and was seated by the senate when Congress convened.

Know The Cause Of Indigestion
By W. P. BROWN
Of Johnson's Pharmacy
Indigestion is one of the most common of human ailments. An occasional attack may be the result of over indulgence in eating or drinking. Since indigestion is a symptom rather than a disease, when repeated attacks occur you should see a physician. He can locate the cause and recommend treatment.

Until you have removed the cause of indigestion you cannot hope for permanent relief. Self-medication at best is uncertain. It can be harmful. Why live in constant discomfort when your physician's advice can help you attain permanent relief. Buy whatever medicine the physician orders from a pharmacist with a reputation for excellent prescription compounding.

TED STARKS RITES HELD ON SATURDAY AT FIRST BAPTIST

Federation Of Corsicana Churches Goes To Central Texas Presbytery

An important step toward the proposed federation of the First Presbyterian church and the Third Avenue Presbyterian church here into the Westminister Presbyterian church of Corsicana will be taken at a meeting of the Central Texas Presbytery at Belton, February 8, it was learned here Friday.

The question was submitted to the Central Texas Presbytery to be held Tuesday of this week, and an "Ad Interim" committee was authorized to be appointed to make an investigation and report back on the February date, according to an announcement Friday by J. H. Sullivan, chairman of the delegation to the Presbytery from the First Presbyterian church here. Other members of the delegation are A. P. Mitchell, Robert Davidson, J. M. Dyer and David Ralston.

Elder Moderator E. J. Douglas and Rev. David M. Currie, both of the Westminister Presbyterian church in Austin, were empowered to appoint the "ad interim" committee to come to Corsicana and report back to the Presbytery February 8.

The Waco Presbytery, of which the Third Avenue congregation is a member, is also understood to be delaying its action until it is seen what action the Central Presbytery takes.

The Central Texas Presbytery is part of the Presbyterian Church U. S. and the Waco Presbytery is part of the Presbyterian Church U. S. A.

The U. S. and U. S. A. are separate denominations of a church which split nationally in 1861.

Wide interest in Presbyterian circles throughout the section has been attached to the Corsicana case because under the proposed federation the church would, in effect, do what the two denominations have been trying vainly to do for many years. The latest estimate on when the two denominations might merge nationally is five years.

Some local members oppose the plan and contend that the Westminister Presbyterian church—which would result from the federation—would control the church properties. Presbyterians usually control church properties.

Final Quarter Spurt Decides Important Tilt

By TALMADGE CANANT

Sun Sports Staff

Waco high school continued its undefeated march toward a district 9-A basketball crown here Friday night, defeating the Corsicana Tigers, 39-24.

For three quarters the Navarro Bengals made an exciting ball game of it, but superior reserves took their toll in the fourth period and the Wacoans pulled away on a successful barrage of free tosses.

The Waco B team won from the Corsicana Cubs in the curtain raiser, 38-31.

Joe Don Dickson, Waco's towering center, led the visitors to their win, taking high point honors for the night with 16 points, half of which came on free shots.

Custer High for Locals

Little John Custer was high for the locals scoring 12 points.

Height, and plenty of it, hurt Corsicana, through the Navarro Bengals did a good job of taking the rebounds. What hurt the locals just as much was their inability to cash in on clutch field goals and free shots. Apparently, Corsicana was trying to outpace the Wacoans, but the failure of Leon Wylie to come through with his usual number of points was also a factor but the lanky Tiger guard did some fine work in the closing minutes of victory would have been much higher except for him. He was guarded closely all night.

The best job of defensive work for the Corsicans Friday night was done by Custer's Joe Langston, who drew the job of guarding the towering Dickson. He held the beanpole to four goals from the floor, but the four goals from the floor for the opening minutes of the ball game, when Corsicana scored first on Chapman's free toss, the locals were never ahead. The most Waco could pull ahead in the first half was 10-8.

The tide began to turn in the second half, and most of the time the margin was smaller.

Waco was ahead by the following scores at the end of the first three periods: 13-8, 19-14, and 27-20.

The officiating was close, which was to Corsicana's advantage, for both Dickson and Marlow fouled out of the game in the last period, leaving only seconds to go.

The Tigers put a last-quarter rally but fell short as the Wacoans won the curtain raiser. Here again, height hurt Corsicana, but experience hurt them just as much, for the visitors had a seasoned B team.

Cubs Spurt

After lagging 17-11 at halftime, the Tigers did no better opening the final half, and with 3 minutes to go lagged, 36-25. It was then that the locals spurted, picking up five points before the final whistle.

Duane Nutt led the Corsicana scoring with 11 points, and was trailed by Don Corley, who did some good work for the night on both offense and defense. Ryan's 8 tallies was high for the Wacoans.

The Tigers of Corsicana hit the road for their next three games, beginning with a tilt with Hillsboro on Tuesday, Jan. 18.

Le Tourneau Wins Over Bulldogs At Longview 49-45

Navarro's Bulldogs cagers dropped a close 49-45 conference decision to the Le Tourneau Tech five Thursday night in Longview, making a drive in the final quarter, but never managing to tie the score or forge ahead.

It was the third conference loss against two wins for the local five.

The Bulldogs trailed by a 34-23 count at halftime, but closed the gap slowly to four points at the final whistle. Differences in officiating hurt the Navarro crew, who have been used to close calling of fouls.

The game was exceptionally rough. Don Granger, Navarro sub, went out of the game with a laceration on his head that took four stitches to close. Kaufman, Le Tourneau center, went out of the game with a sprained ankle early in the contest.

Navarro plays host on the junior high court here Saturday night to the Texarkana Junior College five, rated another strong team in this league. The game is set for 7:30 o'clock.

Lads and Lassies Win Fourth Tilts

The State Home Lads and Lassies registered their fourth win in five cage starts this season Friday night on the State Home court when both the quintet and sextette won games from the Mildred boys and girls.

The Lads trampled the Mildred boys, 49-18, and the Lassies beat the Mildred girls, 25-4.

Macca Ben Lawrence was high scorer for the Lads, making 13 points, and Flora Allen Anders registered the high total for the Lassies, 18 tallies.
